

Airhead!

The diary of an air conditioning apprentice...

MONDAY

After our dodgy heat pump nearly wrecked the Swedish baroness' villa, Max got a call from the consulate today. They thanked him for offering a full refund plus compensation, thereby avoiding a 'most regrettable situation'. Max said he hadn't made such an offer. But after the consulate politely suggested what would likely occur otherwise, Max went very quiet, then pale, then thanked them several times as the call came to an end...

"Those superior bastards!" he screamed afterwards. "This'll cost me a bloody fortune!"

Then he stormed out. "I'm going to the golf club" he snarled, "Gotta drum up some sales to make up for this bloody mess". He often goes there, to ingratiate himself with the golfing set. Some mindless golf drivels here, a bit of banter there, a few dirty jokes to get pally with 'the guys' and drum up some business... What a creep.

TUESDAY

Max went to the club again this morning. Soon after, the baroness came into the shop asking for him. I told her where he was. "Excellent. I'm due there myself at one o'clock - I play with friends every Wednesday" she said, and swept out. "But it's Tuesday today...?!", I shouted after her. But she'd already driven off.

By the time she arrived at the club, Max had been drinking with 'the guys' for a while, and was already half-cut when she spotted him at the bar...

She realised by now that she'd got her golfing day wrong. So, despite the damage Max had done to her house, she very graciously asked him: "Would you like to play a round?" With a drunken leer he replied "Alright, darlin' - your place or mine?!" OMG!

FRIDAY

'Just heard that the baroness contacted Penguin to install a replacement heat pump. Apparently it's already done and working perfectly. Meanwhile the Swedish consulate called several times, wanting to speak to Max. He's not answering...

Don't get an airhead, get an expert!
